General.

Governing Law. These Terms will be governed in all respects by the laws of the State of Illinois as they apply to agreements entered into and to be performed entirely within Illinois between Illinois residents, without regard to conflict of law provisions.

No Third Party Beneficiaries. Except as specifically identified in these Terms, nothing in these Terms is intended to confer upon any person other than the parties and their respective successors or permitted assigns, any rights, remedies, obligations or liabilities whatsoever.

Relation of the Parties. The parties agree that each is acting as an independent contractor and under no circumstances will any of the employees of one party be deemed the employees of the other for any purpose. Except as otherwise expressly agreed by the parties, these Terms will not be construed as authority for either party to act for the other party in any agency or other capacity, or to make commitments of any kind for the account of or on behalf of the other. Nothing in these Terms will be deemed to constitute a joint venture or partnership between the parties.

Force Majeure. With the exception of your payment obligations, neither party will be responsible for delays or failures in performance resulting from acts of God, acts of civil or military authority, fire, flood, strikes, war, epidemics, pandemics, shortage of power, telecommunications or Internet service interruptions or other acts or causes reasonably beyond the control of that party. The party experiencing the force majeure event agrees to give the other party notice promptly following the occurrence of a force majeure event, and to use diligent efforts to re-commence performance as promptly as commercially practicable. In the event any failure to perform because of a force majeure event remains uncured for a period of fourteen (14) days, the other party may terminate these Terms, without liability, by providing written notice to the other party.

Assignment. Neither party may assign or transfer any rights or obligations under these Terms (including by operation of law or otherwise) without the prior written consent of the other party. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, with the exception of an assignment to a competitor of the nonassigning party (which will require written consent from the nonassigning party), either party may assign these Terms without obtaining the consent of the other party, to an affiliate or to any entity into which the assigning party is merged, or to an acquirer of all or substantially all of the business or assets of the assigning party, or as part of a business restructuring, sale of stock, or other recapitalization or reorganization. Any purported assignment of rights or transfer of obligations in violation of this section is void. These Terms will bind each party's authorized successors and assigns.

Dispute Resolution.

(i) Arbitration. Any dispute arising under these Terms will be subject to binding arbitration by a single Arbitrator with the American Arbitration Association (AAA), in accordance with its relevant industry rules, if any. The arbitration will be held in Chicago, Illinois. The Arbitrator will have the authority to grant injunctive relief and specific performance to enforce the terms of these Terms. Judgment on any award rendered by the Arbitrator may be entered in any court of competent jurisdiction.

(ii) Informal Preliminary Dispute Resolution. Each party agrees that any dispute between the parties relating to these Terms will first be submitted in writing to a panel of two senior executives each party, who will promptly meet and confer (telephone communications sufficient) in an effort to resolve such dispute through good faith consultation and negotiation. Each party's executives shall be identified by notice to the other party, and may be changed at any time thereafter also by notice to the other. Any decisions of the executives will be final and binding on the parties. In the event the executives are unable to resolve any dispute within thirty (30) days after submission to them, either party may then commence legal proceedings as provided above in this section.

(iii) Injunctive Relief. Nothing in this section, however, requiring informal dispute resolution prior to instituting legal proceedings will prohibit either party from seeking injunctive relief in situations where such proceedings may be appropriate.

(iv) Prevailing Party. The prevailing party in any arbitration, suit, or action brought by one party against the other party to enforce the terms of these Terms or any rights or obligations hereunder, shall be entitled to receive, in addition to such other relief as the arbitrators or court may award, its reasonable costs and expenses, including without limitation all attorneys' fees, expert witness fees, litigation-related expenses and arbitrator and court or other costs incurred in such proceeding or otherwise in connection with bringing such arbitration, suit, or action. For purposes of these Terms, a party is “prevailing” if that party prevails on the central issue raised in the action or claim. A party may prevail by judgment or decision in that party’s favor, consent decree, settlement agreement or voluntary dismissal with or without prejudice.

Further Assurances. The parties shall execute such further documents and do any and all such further things as may be necessary to implement and carry out the intent of these Terms.

No Waiver. The failure of either party to exercise any right or the waiver by either party of any breach, shall not prevent a subsequent exercise of such right or be deemed a waiver of any subsequent breach of the same of any other provision of these Terms. All waivers must be in writing, and signed by the party waiving its rights.

Captions and Headings. The captions and headings of clauses contained in these Terms preceding the text of articles, sections, subsections and paragraphs are inserted solely for convenience and ease of reference only and shall not constitute any part of these Terms, or have any effect on its interpretation or construction.

Severability. If any court of competent jurisdiction finds any portion of any provision of these Terms to be unenforceable or contrary to applicable law, the parties agree that the provision will be deemed modified to the least extent necessary to make it enforceable, and all other provisions of these Terms will remain unaffected.

Entire Agreement. These Terms constitutes the entire agreement between the parties with respect to its subject matter, and supersedes all other agreements, proposals, negotiations, representations or communications relating to the subject matter. Both parties acknowledge that they have not been induced to enter these Terms by any representations or promises not specifically stated in these Terms. The protections of these Terms will apply to actions of the parties performed in preparation for and anticipation of the execution of these Terms. Any amendment to these Terms must be in writing and signed by duly authorized representatives of the parties.
